Editorial Comments.

He saw it all right, yesterday.

Richmond mustered in a military company Friday night.

Congressman Stanley spoke at Harrodsburg yesterday.

The edible eggs imported from China are not the kind we have been using for nest eggs.

Gov. McCreary has put Jim Stone in a class with our own Col. Ike Hart, by giving him a Colonel's commission.

M. de Valdrome, French diplomat, agent at Tangier, Morocco, was shot and killed by a cook whom he discharged.

The Probers at Frankfort are doing a great work for the state and are finding many things that needed turning up.

If that policewoman in Los Angeles lives up to her pictures, she is not likely to get close enough to any man to arrest him.

The Kentucky Children's Home has decided to the the State, the real estate purchased with State funds. Score one for the Probers.

The female suffragists of Daviess county offer $20 for the best speech in favor of women voting, to be competed for by five high school pupils.

Beachey had another narrow escape at Los Angeles Saturday, when his aeroplane hit a tree in alighting and bruised him in many places but broke no bones.

Another Federal defeat is reported from Zacatecas. The rebels killed 400 Federals, including prisoners captured and executed. Only 7 rebels were killed.

The sixteen pawnbrokers of Paducah have secured a temporary injunction to prevent the enforcement of a new ordinance against "loan sharks." The city will fight them at the ratio of 16 to 1.

Sir Thomas Lipton is building a new yacht, the secret designing of which he has placed in the hands of unmarried men, upon the idea that married men cannot keep secrets from their wives and wives cannot keep them at all.

The Franklin grand jury has investigated the alleged charges of mismanagement of the penitentiary by Warden Wells and gives him a clean bill, declaring there were no grounds for the charges lodged by the discharged employe White.

The legislative probes have shown up a great deal of graft, mismanagement and extravagance in several state institutions. Stopping the waste of public money is not enough. There should be a house cleaning wherever crookedness has been discovered.

John Wesley Gaines, former Congressman, of Nashville, has been appointed a commissioner to study the distribution of the waters of the Rio Grande river, at a salary of $4,000 a year. Coming from a dry State, John Wesley ought to be an expert in the study of water.

The Mexican rebels, under Villa, have begun a movement against Torreón, which is garrisoned by from 6,000 to 10,000 Federals. This is practically the only city of consequence north of Mexico still held by Huert's troops. Gen. Villa has more than 10,000 troops for his "On to Mexico City" campaign.

The re-appointment of Judge Garrett S. Wall as a member of the State Board of Control will be gratifying to the Hopkinsville friends of Judge Wall. The Governor sent his nomination to the Senate Thursday and it was immediately confirmed. He is one of the Democratic members of the Board and has served one term. His home is at Maysville, but he has friends all over Kentucky.

WENT DOWN IN DENSE FOG

Monroe Disaster Described by Passangers of Ship That Went Down.

FORTY-THREE PERISHED

Story of Awful and Sudden Death Related by Eye-Witnesses.

Norfolk, Va., Jan. 31—The story of how 43 souls went down to death in chilly waters of the Atlantic when the liner Nantucket ramed and sank the steamer Monroe early Friday, was brought to port tonight by 91 survivors of the sunken ship's passengers, rescued and brought to shore by the Nantucket. It was a story of awful and sudden death, sweeping out of the dark and fog, and taking unawares the doomed half hundred with the heaviness of sleep still upon them. It told how the stricken Monroe, with her side gored deep by the knifelike steel prow of the Nantucket, filled rapidly, rolled over on her side, and in a few minutes turned completely over and plunged to the bottom, carrying with her the illfated passengers and members of the crew who had failed to get clear of the wreck.

FORTY-THREE PERISHED.

Tonight the revised lists prepared by Capt. Johnson, who survived the sunken vessel, showed:

Lost Passengers, 19, crew, 24; total 43.

Saved Passengers, 36; crew; 55 total 91.

Under the thick bank of fog that hid the heavy running sea both big ships were making their way slowly and with difficulty in the early morning. The Monroe with Capt. Johnson on the bridge and a double look out peering into the fog ahead was edging under half speed to the northward, having left Norfolk for New York last evening with a nerve-racking fog bound voyage in prospect. The Nantucket heavily laden with freight and but two passengers aboard was nosing her way southward, bound from Boston to Norfolk. Urged through the dripping fog, the two vessels slowly were drawn toward each other.

The crash came about 1:40 o'clock without warning.

SUCCESSFUL OPERATION.

Performed on Mrs. R. E. Cooper at Rochester, Minn.

Mrs. R. E. Cooper was operated upon for appendicitis in the Mayo Sanatorium at Rochester, Minn., last Friday. She stood the operation well and cheering reports continue to come from Mr. Cooper and her mother, Mrs. J. E. Crider, who went with her. Mrs. Cooper has been in poor health for a long time and while her ailment had been diagnosed, an operation had not been deemed safe until she could be put through a course of treatment. She was able to make the trip to Minnesota in good condition and after resting up for several days the operation was performed as stated. Her complete and speedy recovery is now confidently expected.

Thomas-Sumner.

Mr. Stark Thomas and Miss Mattie Sumner, both of Trigg county, were married at the parsonage on South Virginia street Saturday morning, by Rev. Calvin M. Thompson, of the First Baptist church. They were accompanied to the city by Mr. Frank Guier and Miss Nellie Thomas. They returned to their home the same afternoon.

PENNYROYAL FAIR DIRECTORS

Initial Arrangements For This Year Discussed And Date Is Fixed.

SEPTEMBER 29 TO OCT. 3.

New Board of Directors To Be Chosen Monday February 9th.

The directors of the Pennyroyal Fair Company met at the rooms of the H. B. M. A. last Saturday. There was a full attendance of the board and many matters of interest were brought up for discussion and action. The President, S. L. Cowherd, presided, and it was evident that he had thought much about the event of all events last year and his mind is fixed on doing great things for this year. The opinion seems to be general that this year's fair will eclipse that of last—and nobody has forgotten the valiant work of Mr. Cowherd and his assistant, B. Gordon Nelson. Mr. Nelson is the secretary of the fair and is a live wire. The organization last year outdid every other lot of men in the State in giving the people a big fair.

Next Monday is the day for the stockholders to meet and elect directors for the year. The meeting will be held at The Avalon. Mr. Nelson is sending out notices to the stockholders asking them to be there if possible, if not, to send proxies. There may be a few changes made at this meeting, but it is thought that practically all of the officers will be retained for another year in recognition of the good work done last year.

At the meeting Saturday Norton Garth, B. Gordon Nelson and J. W. Riley were appointed "a futurity" committee. The meaning of "futurity" is fully understood by horsemen. It means that breeders deposit a fee on the privilege of entering prospective colts at the next fair. Later another deposit is made, and later another. These deposits are put into a fund that goes to the fortunate winner when the young animals are exhibited. It is not the money of the fair company.

Ernest Steger, a large buyer of wheat, was present and said that if this should be a good wheat year he wanted to see a fine display at the next fair and would start subscriptions for prizes with a big contribution, and he believed that the men representing the milling interests of this section would do the same thing.

There are a large number of horses to be brought here this year and put in training before the fair. Two or three handlers are already here. To encourage this Messrs. Cowherd, Nelson and White were appointed a committee to rent out the stalls at a nominal price.

There are now 160 stalls, but more are to be built. The seating capacity of the grand stand is to be increased 33 per cent. A floral hall is to be built, and many other things to be done.

First Monday.

The "first Monday" crowd in town yesterday was unusually large and there was quite a stir on the streets. Sheriff Jewell Smith made a sale of property advertised for delinquent taxes, buying in the bulk of the offerings for the State and county. The horse traders also made their re-appearance on Court street and there was much jockeying. The merchants all had a busy day.

Langford Recovers.

Bud Langford, who killed A. M. Tyler at Hickman has recovered from his wounds and is able to be out on a bond of $5,500.

NO STEP BACKWARD

Hopkinsville Will Continue To Have High Class Entertainment.

ANOTHER CHAUTAUQUA.

Early Date Contemplated And Tent Will Be Used.

The Chautauquas of 1912 and 1913 were so greatly enjoyed by everybody, which was proven by the readiness to respond to the call for pledges for 1914, that all question as to having it this spring has long since been settled in the affirmative.

Messrs. George W. Crenshaw, with J. H. Anderson & Co., and C. O. Wright, real estate dealer, have assumed the management for this year. Both of them are well qualified and its success is assured. The lecture, concerts and other numbers of the week's program will be given in the big tent again this year, which will be put up on the Metcalfe lot, east of Hotel Latham.

Last year and the year before the Chautauqua was put on here during the very warmest weather of the summer, but this year an earlier date has been arranged for. The week beginning May 4th or 11th is the time this year and this arrangement will be pleasant news to everybody. It is yet too early to give the program but Messrs. Crenshaw and Wright will give it publication as soon as they hear from the Chautauqua arrangement committee.

SUITS FILED

Men Who Have Pledged Tobacco and Sold "Outside" to Be Enjoined.

Important suits were filed in Circuit Court yesterday that will attract more than ordinary interest when they are called for trial at the approaching term of the court. The suits were filed to enjoin people who have pledged their tobacco crops in this county and sold to dealers outside the Association.

SHAKE AT HENDERSON

Was Plainly Felt Last Week With Good Effect.

The board of tax supervisors adjourned finally at Hopkinsville last Friday without "incident" worth mentioning, but not so at Henderson. The Journal says they had a real shock over there when Mr. W. E. Carson, manager of the interurban road, connecting Evansville and Henderson, appeared before the board and had the assessment for rolling stock, etc., raised from $10,000 to $15,000.

Met in Louisville.

Miss Katie McDaniel and Mrs. Holland Garnett attended a meeting of Executive Board of the Missionary Societies of the Louisville conference of the M. E. Church, South, held in Louisville last week. The meeting was followed by a reception at the Fourth avenue Methodist church, at which officers of the various societies were guests. The annual meeting of the missionary societies of the conference will be held at Lebanon the first week of June.

At Highland Chapel.

The first of a series of evangelistic services was held last Sunday night at Highland chapel. Rev. Virgil Elgin will preach every night during the meeting and everybody is invited to attend.

GLENN BILL TOO DRASTIC

Hopkinsville Business Men's Association Adopts Resolutions.

WOULD HURT BUSINESS.

Representatives in The General Assembly Asked to Vote Against It.

The Hopkinsville Business Men's Association upon reassembling Friday evening to hear the report of the committee appointed to digest the Glenn bill, after a full discussion adopted the following resolutions:

"Whereas, the Hopkinsville Business Men's Association is interested in the matter of fire insurance rates in the City of Hopkinsville and State of Kentucky.

"And whereas it has come to our knowledge that a certain bill has been introduced into the House and Senate, namely Senate Bill No. 109, known as the Glenn Bill, by which practically arbitrary power for making fire insurance rates in this city and State has been given to the State Insurance Board.

"Therefore, be it resolved, that the Hopkinsville Business Men's Association earnestly protest against the enactment of the said law as being unnecessary and hostile to business interests and the development of business enterprises in our city and State, and we ask and urge our Senators and Representatives to vote against said bill and to use all lawful means to prevent it becoming a law."

WEATHER CLERK

Checked Pre-Spring Farming and-Sent Needed Rain.

The appearance of old Boreas in these parts last Friday was an estoppel to all arguments as to whether spring had come or not. The high cold wind sleet, snow and chilly rain, stopped the blooming of violets in protected places, gardening was abandoned, heavy underware was brought again into requisition, hauling tobacco was interfered with, plowing was discontinued, and farming operations generally had to slack up for a season. The only good thing about the whole business was the heavy cold rain of Friday night which was turned into empty cisterns.

FLOOD GATE OPENED.

Little River at Normal Stage and Boating Ceased.

City Engineer McClaid had the gate at Edgewater Park dam opened last Friday morning and the river is now down to its normal stage above the dam. The reason for letting the water run out was that some repairs are necessary at each end of it. But little boating can be done until the repairs are made and the water is again accumulated for summer use.

Weather for Week.

Washington, Feb. 1.—There will be rain or snow by Wednesday in the Middle Atlantic States and New England tonight. A second disturbance will appear about the middle of the week, resulting in rains and snows over the central and eastern portion of the country.

In the south, generally fair weather is indicated, although local rains are probable in the gulf states toward the end of the week, with higher temperature.

FISCAL COURT MEETS TO-DAY

Committee From The Business Men's Association Will Ask Hearing.

ON SANITORIUM MATTER.

Body Will Be Urged To Take Action To Carry Out Voters' Wishes.

The Fiscal Court will hold its regular monthly meeting to-day and among the matters to be called to its attention will be the matter of establishing a tuberculosis hospital or sanatorium, as voted for by the people last fall by a large majority.

The General Assembly of 1912 passed an act authorizing the appointment of a commission to deal with tuberculosis in the state. Section 6 provides that districts may be created consisting of one or more counties by the Fiscal Courts, or the people may themselves order it as was done last fall when the vote was in favor of making Christian county into a district.

When this has been done the act further provides:

Sec. 8—The result of any county or district election shall be certified to the Fiscal Court of such county * * * and said Fiscal Court, if the result of said election be certified to it or them as in favor of the establishment of such district, shall forthwith proceed to declare such county * * a district for the establishment of a sanitarium for the treatment of tuberculosis, and shall proceed to put same into effect * * * and the cost and expenses of erection and maintenance shall follow in all manner the same as herein above provided.

Sec. 9—Upon the creation of a tuberculosis district, the Fiscal Court of the county * * * shall at once notify the Kentucky Board of Tuberculosis Commissioners of the establishment of such district, and there upon it shall be the duty of the Kentucky Board of Tuberculosis Commissioners to recommend to the county judge * * the appointment of suitable persons for such District Board of Trustees.

Other provisions are: The district board shall consist of 7 persons, men and women, at least one of whom shall be a physician.

The Commission shall recommend 14 names to the County Judge, one-half to be appointed.

The State Commission selects the site for the sanitarium.

The government of same shall rest in the Board of Trustees, who shall be a body corporate.

The Fiscal Court is required to provide funds for the erection of a building and "shall further make a levy for the maintenance of said institution."

The members of the Board receive no compensation.

Details for the conduct of the sanitarium are fully set forth in the act, which is very lengthy.

Patients who are able are required to pay for their treatment.

The Committee to wait upon the Fiscal Court is composed of Geo. D. Dalton, Chas. M. Meacham and S. L. Cowherd.

Refuses to Reconvey.

Suit has been filed in the McCracken circuit court by Samuel Liebel, a wealthy real estate owner, against his wife Lizzie Liebel, for possession of property valued at $100,000. The plaintiff charges that his wife violated an agreement by refusing to reconvey the property which he had deeded to her. The alleged agreement was not stipulated in the deeds. The couple have no children and he alleges in the suit that she has written a will in which she entirely ignores his kindred.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

We are authorized to announce
BON. DAVID H. SINCHLOE, of Hopkins county, as a candidate for Congress in the Second district,
subject to the election of the primary
to be held in August, 1914.

For Congress.

We are authorized to announce
J. W. BENSON
as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Congress for the Second Congressional District,
subject to the election of the primary
to be held in August, 1914.

All things come to him who waits.
The drouth has been broken.

W. S. Dehoney, formerly mayor of Frankfort, died Friday, aged 80 years.

Senator Shelby M. Cullom, in politics for 40 years, left an estate of $100,000.

Let the kickers keep quiet. The rain has ended the drouth and the cold wave has saved the fruit crop.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. E. Carter, of Philadelphia, are in a divorce suit.
They with their two children are Titanic survivors.

The deposed President of Haiti is named Oh-rest, or something like that. His front name is Give-us, let's seat him in Huerta's chair?

The pure food people have seized 27 barrels of spoiled tomato catsup at Louisville. They were doubtless able to catch up with it by its unpleasant odor.

House Bill 203, transferring Hopkinsville from fourth class to third class was favorably reported Friday in the House. It is likely to pass without opposition.

Roger C. Sullivan has bought the Peoria, Ill., Journal and it is reported that Urey Woodson will become the editor and make it a Sullivan organ in support of the owner for United States Senator.

Kermit Roosevelt, who toured Africa with his father, the Colonel, will be married in the early spring to Miss Belle Willard, a Richmond, Va., belle, who is widely known as one of the beauties of Virginia.

Mr. Duffy should move to refer all female suffrage bills introduced in the House to the people of Newstead, Christian county, Kentucky, where placing the ballots in the hands of colored women was given a trial last fall.

Senator James is urging the appointment of former Senator J. C. S.
Blackburn to succeed Cullom on the Lincoln Memorial Commission, a $5-000 job that would just suit the old horse, now without and office of any kind.

John Jacob Astor VI, posthumous son of Col. John Jacob Astor, who went down with the Titanic in April 1912, is now 17 months old and is a fine, robust youngster who resembles his youthful mother, who is barely in her twenties.

The Senate Committee has ordered favorable reports on more than 20 arbitration treaties with leading foreign countries in Europe, Asia and South America. No war is to be declared until arbitration has failed. A treaty of the same kind with Mexico expired last June and was not renewed.

The House has passed the Hampton prohibition bill, which puts the Webb Liquor law, passed by Congress, into effect, by prohibiting the sale of liquor in prohibition territory on mail orders. It prevents railroads from shipping and requires common carriers to keep a separate book on shipments.

Rockford, Ala.—Mrs. M. C. Pas-

called in physicians to treat my case, but without relief. Finally I tried Cardui, and it gave perfect satisfac-

pains peculiar to weak women? Car-dual has a record of over fifty years in relieving such troubles, and will certainly benefit you. It prevents those frequent headaches, and keeps

Nero Played a Bagpipe.
Although bagpipes are usually associated with Scotland, they are not peculiar to the Highlands. It is an Nero is said to have played upon a

WRITING LETTERS IN SYRIA

Not Always an Easy Task Here, but Something to Be Dressed In That Country.

I always dreaded writing letters
when called upon to do it by my father. It was not the business part of the letter which I dreaded, because that was dictated to me; but I had to write the "preface," a chapter of falsely salacious and laudatory phrases, extolling the recipient, and without which a letter was little short of an insult. Again, I had to ascertain "the day of the month"
which, in the entire absence of calendars, was known only to a few eclect minds. When the question,
"How much of the month is it?" was put to me my face reddened with incredible swiftness. And when I was ridiculed by the men present for my inexcusable ignorance, being a "schoolboy," my mother would come to the rescue by telling these men that they themselves did not know how much of the month it was, and they were of much larger dimensions than I was. I was often sent to the priest to ask him what day of the month it was. He usually counted on his fingers from the last saint's day, according to the eastern calendar, and I ran home with the information lest I should forget it on the way.—Abraham Ribhani in the Atlantic.

DAY OF THE SWORD ENDING

Poetical References to Soldier's Proverbial Weapon May Soon Be Very Much Out of Date.

The sword, the soldier's proverbial weapon since the early days of history, seems on the way to disappearance in the German army. The six cavalry regiments provided for by the army-increase law, passed this year, will be without sabres, being armed instead with carbines equipped with the short infantry bayonet.

The change is made experimentally, but causes much head shaking among old-line cavalymen, for it is recognized that the experiment, if successful, will lead to its general adoption in the cavalry. With infantry officers now dispensing with the sword in actual warfare, to make themselves less conspicuous to opposing sharpshooters, and cavalry going into action with rifle and bayonet, poetical reference to the sword of battle may have to be revised.

SUICIDE AS LOVE CURE.

Suicide as a case for hopeless love is a common expedient in Japan.
"There are Japanese lovers," says a writer, "who, owing to circumstances, are unable to marry; but they do not blame circumstances. They regard their misfortune as the result of an error in previous existence, such as breaking their promise to wed or because they were cruel to each other. Such lovers believe that if they bind themselves together with an undergirdle and spring into a river or lake they will become united in their next birth. This suicide of Japanese lovers is called 'joshi,' which means 'love death' or 'passion death.'"

LION NOT TO BE CREATED

Captain Stigand Tells Story of Beast's Perseverance in Its Quest for a Meal.

At a village near Fort Mangoch, also in Nyasaland, a man was sitting one night at the door of his hut knitting, while his wife was cooking food inside. The hut was au-dient one, being several yards from the rest of the village.

By the woman heard the lion say, "A lion has got me."
The man started and snatched the lion. The astonished animal dragged her husband and hastily put up the door. A few minutes after and sat there with the dead
lion.

Presently the lion returned and knocked gently at the door. This he repeated several times till it got on the woman's nerves. At last she could stand it no longer, so she took another fagot from the fire, unbarred
the door and fled to the village, leaving the dead man. The lion then walked into the hut and took him.—

SKIN PECULIARITY.

Human cuticle reacts peculiarly to stimuli. The makers of billiard balls test the smoothness of the finished article by rubbing it against the cheek. Certain areas of the tongue are very sensitive to different flavors, while about an inch from the tip is a little patch which is the precise spot to dump objectionable medicine, for in that region the sense of taste is absent. If one marks on the biceps of the arm a little space, and test it with the warmed head of a pin, some spots will feel just pressure, others warmth and pressure.
And if one has a little red ink on the pin he can mark out just where these "warm spots" are. In fact, the cuticle seems a mosaic of "warm" and "cold" spots. And there is said to be a place above the knee where one can drive a pin without pain.

Women have more of what is termed good sense than men. They cannot American Farmers in Lead.

It is said that American farmers use more paint on their buildings than any other farmers of the world. The people of this country paint every two years on an average, but in France, Holland and other European countries the painting is done on an average of every five years. Americans use more bright colors than any other nation.

How "Teetotaler" Originated.
Teetotaler, the term applied to an abstainer from all fermented liquors, originated with Richard Turner, an artisan of Preston, England, who, contending for the principle at a temperance meeting in 1833, asserted that "Nothing but te-te-total will do." The word was immediately adopted.

A MOTHER'S GRATITUDE

Many a Mother in Hopkinsville Will Appreciate the Following.

Many a strong man and many a healthy woman has much for which to thank mother. The care taken during their childhood brought them past the danger point and made them healthy men and women. Thousands of children are bothered with incontinence of urine, and inability to retain it is of times called a habit. It is not always the children's fault—in many cases the difficulty lies with the kidneys, and can be readily righted. A Hopkinsville mother tells how she went about it.

Mrs. O. A. McEroy, 226 O'Neal avenue, Hopkinsville, Ky., says: "I gave my young son part of a box of Doan's Kidney Pills and I know they did him a lot of good. He used to have trouble from weak kidneys every night. One box of Doan's Kidney Pills was all that was needed to strengthen his kidneys. I consider Doan's Kidney Pills a fine remedy for kidney trouble and can highly recommend them."

Duty.

One sound always comes to the ear that is open; it is the steady drum-beat of Duty. No music in it, perhaps—only a dry rub-a-dub. Keep step to that drum-beat, and the dullest march is taking you home.—George S. Merriam.

His name was Thomas Walsh. Such a master of Bible knowledge I never saw before, and never expect to see again."

ANTILQUOR LEGISLATION

House Passes Three Bills Imposing Restrictions On Traffic.

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 30.—The general assembly centered its attention Friday upon remedial legislation for illicit liquor selling and pistol-toting. In the house three bills were passed looking to the prevention of shipment of whiskey into dry territory and the sale of it after it gets there. The senate passed a bill providing for the disfranchisement of any citizen convicted of carrying a deadly weapon. Indications are that all of these measures will become laws. A bill giving the state insurance board increased powers in regulating insurance rates and classification will be reported favorably by the committee considering it.

The house passed three bills affecting the shipment of intoxicating liquors into dry territory. The first is the bill of Representative Douglass, providing that search warrants may be issued in illicit liquor cases; second, that the penalty for minors visiting saloons be repealed; and third, the bill prohibiting the shipment of liquor into local option territory and prohibiting persons from having in possession for sale liquors in local option territory. The provisions of the third bill are designed for the purpose of putting into effect the Webb-Kenyon law in Kentucky.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a running ear or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and the tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

Changeable Climate

IS A CONSTANT THREAT TO THE HEALTH OF THE PEOPLE.

Dr. Hartman, of Columbus, Ohio, discusses an important health topic. He says:

Yes, it is the climate, not the germs, that we have to fear in this country. The germs are present, to be sure, and are of some significance in diagnosis. Climate, a changeable climate, is the true cause of disease. The atmospheric pressure varies, the humidity of the atmosphere changes. Every day the temperature rises and falls. All this presents to the body very great trials to adjust to.

The area of high pressure forms in the northwest. Moves rapidly southeast, subduing millions of our population to its influence. The result is, thousands upon thousands of people catch cold. A small per cent. of these thousands do not get well of their cold. It goes into pneumonia, or chronic catarrh, or bronchitis, or laryngitis, or pleurisy.

Now, what I am getting at is this. These climatic changes are inevitable. No one can prevent them. The very best we can do is to prepare for them, defend ourselves against them.

Good health is the best preventive. The very best. Vigorous health, with excess vitality, this is Nature's own preventive and protection.

We do not all have this, however. Some of us must have assistance. The assistance that I use for myself, would recommend for my friends to use, my neighbors and my countrymen, is Pe-ru-na. Keep Pe-ru-na in the house.

If the children indicate they are catching cold, give them Pe-ru-na. If the parents, the grandfather or grandmother, present those symptoms that are so well known which precede a cold, a few doses of Pe-ru-na and cold is done.

Some people are very subject to colds. Others who have weak lungs and are timid about our winter weather, take Pe-ru-na off and on during the whole winter season. The plan is a good one. The medicine is inexpensive. It does no possible harm to the system. It keeps the appetite regular and keen. It assists digestion and helps the user through the inclement weather of winter.

GAME BIRD LAW

CLOSELY DEFINED.

Any Hotel Or Restaurant Offering Them For Sale Violates The Law.

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 30.—A hotel or restaurant which serves game or game birds to its guests is exposing them for sale within the meaning of the statute prohibiting certain kinds of game and game birds being exposed for sale when it is unlawful to kill or catch them, and it makes no difference whether the game or birds were killed in Kentucky or not said the Court of Appeals this morning reversing the Fayette Circuit Court in the case of the commonwealth against the Phoenix Hotel Company.

The company was prosecuted for exposing quail for sale during the closed season, but protested that the quail were shipped from Chicago and not killed in Kentucky. A verdict was directed in favor of the hotel company, but the Court of Appeals held that a person who exposes prohibited game for sale violates the law regardless of where the same came from.

Forest Notes.

A rancher has applied for the rental of 320 acres on the Pike national forest, Colorado, to be used in connection with other private land, for raising elk as a commercial venture.

The government has just sold 43,000 cords of cedar wood for shingles from the Washington national forest. The shingles manufactured from this wood, laid six inches to the weather, would cover 23 square miles of roof.

The navy department has asked the forest service to investigate guijo, a Philippine wood, for possible use in decking boats and ships. Longleaf pine, sugar maple and beech are the domestic woods most used for decks.

The state university lands in Arizona are to be lumbered under a cooperative agreement between the government and the state land commission. Arizona is the first state in the southwest and one of few in the country to cut its timbered lands on forestry principles.

The annual meeting of the American Forestry Association will be held in Washington on January 14. A president, twenty-one vice presidents, a treasurer, an auditor and five directors are to be elected and plans made for an active campaign for forest conservation during 1914. The association has 8,000 members.

James Whitcomb Riley's Tribute

At an Indiana Chautauqua several years ago, Mr. Riley heard Dr. Miles and after the lecture presented him with an autographed copy of his "Green Fields and Running Brooks," on the fly leaf of which he had written:

"There are many sorts of measures for our joys and for our pleasures. And the changing years still bring us newer styles; So we hazard the conjecture That the test of a good lecture May best be made if measured off by 'Miles.'"

The above has reference to Robert Parker Miles, dramatic lecturer, who will appear at the Tabernacle Tuesday (tonight.) Feb. 3.

Magazine Club.

Mrs. Ira L. Smith entertained the Magazine Club last week and arranged a guessing contest contained in a poem entitled "Vision of famous Women." Poetical descriptions were given of the famous women, no names being used. Mrs. F. W. Dabney, Mrs. L. McF. Blakemore and Miss Julia Arnold gave correct answers in every case. They drew for the prize, a copy of the book "Three Women," and it fell to Mrs. Dabney. Delicious refreshments were served. The Club will meet this month with Mrs. C. E. Woodruff.

Children Take a Hand.

Always liberal and willing to help everybody in need, Manager Shrode will turn over the net receipts at The Rex Theatre next Friday to the Tabernacle Association. The school children have taken a hand and are out selling tickets for next Friday's program at The Rex. Every ticket bought will help the Tabernacle and everybody should be willing to assist the manager of the Tabernacle through the Theatre. The children have been enlisted in the work by the prizes offered the three selling most tickets. First prize, three months ticket; second, 2 months; third, 1 month. The children are hustling and the contest will be a warm one.

A Medical Pessimist.

Dr. J. H. Kellogg, of Battle Creek, Mich., of breakfast food fame, is out in an expert opinion that the human race is playing out. As a pessimist he takes the cake. She is a brunette, with brown hair and eyes, even features and even white teeth. Her measurements, as taken by Mr. Flagg in support of his claim that she is the most beautiful model, are as follows: Height, 5 feet 6 inches; neck, 12½ inches; chest, 33 inches; bust, 36 inches; waist, 24 inches; calf, 14 inches; ankle, 8 inches; length of arm, 26 inches; around upper arm, 12½ inches; around forearm, 10½ inches.

TUBERCULOSIS; HOW NOT TO CATCH OR SPREAD IT.

Pamphlets sent out by the National Association for the Study and Cure of Tuberculosis, distributed in local schools, are an effective agent in the fight, against the dread white plague. Ignorance is the best breeding place for disease. Failure to know the proper manner of life is mainly responsible for illness. It should be the duty and pleasure of every school teacher and every parent, to impress the value of right living upon children. In no division of the instruction should more pains be taken than in that of tuberculosis. It is the greatest menace to physical being, the United States confronts and the only way in which to secure its defeat is to fortify against it. Cure is harder than prevention. Kentucky more than most states in the union has cause, found in its vital statistics, to fear tuberculosis and work against it. The following points taken from the instruction sheets of the association are of particular value. They embrace the essential points and they are brief. Digest them and spread the gospel they contain.

Don't live, study or sleep in rooms where there is no fresh air. Fresh air and sunlight kill the tubercle bacilli and germs causing other diseases. Therefore, have as much of both in your room as possible. Don't live in dusty air. Keep your rooms clean. Get rid of dust by cleaning with damp cloths and mops. Don't sweep with a dry broom. Moisture it.

Keep at least one window open in your bedroom at night, and air the room two or three times a day. Don't eat with soiled hands. Wash them first.

Don't put your hands, pencils or any candy or chewing gum other persons have used, in your mouth. Don't keep soiled handkerchiefs in your pockets. Take a warm bath with soap at least once a week.

Don't neglect a cold or cough but go to a doctor or a dispensary. If you or anyone in your family have tuberculosis, you must obey the following rules if you wish to get well.

Don't waste your money on patent medicines or advertised consumption cures, but go to a doctor or a dispensary. If you go in time, you can be cured; if you wait, it may be too late.

Don't drink whisky or other forms of liquor. Don't sleep in the same bed with any one else and, if possible, not in the same room. Good food, fresh air and rest are the best cures.

Keep out in the fresh air and sunshine as much as possible. Keep your windows open winter and summer, day and night. If properly wrapped up you will not catch cold.

Go to a sanatorium, if you can, and before it is too late. A person who has pulmonary tuberculosis, or consumption, is not dangerous to those with whom he lives and works if he is careful and clean. Many grown people and children have pulmonary tuberculosis, or consumption, without knowledge of it, and can give it to others. Therefore, every person, even if healthy, should observe the following rules:

Don't swallow your expectoration, but spit it out. Don't spit on the sidewalks, playgrounds, or on the floors or hallways of your home or school. It spreads disease, and is dangerous, indecent and against the law. When you must spit, spit into the gutters or into a spittoon half filled with water.

Don't cough or sneeze without holding a handkerchief or your hand over your mouth or nose. Before moving into an old house, thoroughly air, clean, repaper and repaint it.

The Commission Bill.

Them assure which was agreed upon by representative citizens of the third class cities in the conference at Henderson for a commission government of third class cities, provides a few changes in the bill introduced in the house by Hon. John C. Duffy, of Hopkinsville.

One of these changes is a reduction of the number of commissioners from five to three, which is a commendable change, because there naturally would be more friction among five commissioners than among three. No better administration of the city's affairs could be had with five than three, therefore economy would suggest three instead of five. The measure also provides that mayors elected for a term of four years are to be ex-officio members of the board of commissioners till their terms expire.

Two commissioners are to be elected in the first election to be held November, 1915. The one receiving the highest number of votes is to serve four years and the other two years. Commissioners to succeed the mayor and the short term commissioner are to be elected in 1917 for terms of four years and thereafter elections are to be held every two years, two one time and one the other. This plan of having a part of the board to hold over each time was proposed by the Owensboro delegates. All city officers and employees are to be appointed by the commission and compensation fixed by the board. A proviso allows the police judges and in the present third class cities the prosecuting attorneys elected by the people to serve out their terms extending till 1918, after which these offices are abolished as elective offices.

The measure provides that a third class city may submit the proposition to a vote of the people as to whether or not the change to commission government shall be made. As that puts the matter squarely up to the people, there can be no objection to the passage of the bill, because no third class city makes the change until a majority of its voters declare for it at the polls. This is a people's government, and they should not be denied the right to govern themselves as they may deem for their own best interests, even though the interests of the people may conflict with the interests of the political machines.—Owensboro Inquirer.

FOUND IN MISSOURI

Lin Wimbery Returned to His Home After Long Absence.

Mayfield, Ky., Jan. 31.—Lin Wimbery, a prominent young farmer living south of this city, whose mysterious disappearance caused considerable alarm, has been found and returned home to his family. He left Mayfield January 17, and nothing was heard from him until last week, when a friend received a letter from him at Hughesville, Mo. Mrs. Wimbery and Bufe Williams left for that place, where they found Wimbery on the street, walking leisurely about. He was induced to return home. His only explanation for his strange actions was that he had a few cross words with his father and father-in-law, and decided to break away from the county and settle elsewhere.

"It is impossible as yet to tell what the ultimate effect of the radium will be, but the signs are enthusiastic," he said. "The growth has already somewhat diminished. WHY NOT JOIN FORCES?

Mayor Goetz of South Bend was discussing the sudden political camaraderie of two erstwhile hostile camps.

"There is something weird about it," he said, "something ghastly and unreal. In fact, it reminds me of the insane asylum inmates."

"What brings you here?" an old innkeeper asked of a newcomer one morning at breakfast.

"Fits," was the reply. "I take fits."
"Why, so do I!" cried the other lunatic, delightedly. "Come on out and we'll have one together!"
"And the two men hurried forth into the garden."

ROOTS OF THE ROSE

By KENNET HARRIS.

Bravlen rather prided himself upon being thoroughly sophisticated in his tastes and philosophical—according to the latter-day European school—in his ideas. He had not drained pleasure's cup to the dregs, because he was always careful to throw away the dregs, and replenish the cup. He enjoyed his inherited wealth without a thought of the thousands who had toiled, starved and sickened to accumulate it. Such a thought would have been absurdly unphilosophical. A delving into causes, he argued, spoiled the proper appreciation of delightful effects. "Do you think," he added once, "that the beauty of a perfect rose and its exquisite perfume could appeal to me more if I knew the cellular processes by which it was built and went to its roots to see the filth and ordure by which it was nourished? No, my friend, I take my rose for what it is and what it is what it seems to be. I'm distinctly a superficialist."

So it was not so surprising that Bravlen became entirely devoted to La Marchesa. Nobody knew anything about La Marchesa.

One or two of Bravlen's intimates thought first to warn him against the growing infatuation. They asked him what he knew about her antecedents. "Not a blamed thing," replied Bravlen, "and I don't care a continental—and I wouldn't thank anybody for telling me."

It was nearly a year after that that Bravlen sat in La Marchesa's little boudoir with the air of a man thoroughly at home there. Bravlen stretching out a hand touched caressingly the daintily formed ankle displayed beneath a tumbled cloud of lace. She quickly drew the foot back and there was a startled look in her eyes. "Verboten," she said, "My friend you are to be very good. I like you at a distance tonight."

"I may not touch you?" he asked. "Not by the least tip of your little finger," she replied, demurely. "I am Mademoiselle Nitouche, whom you may worship from afar."

"Well, then, it shall be as you say," he said. "I will sit here and worship you from afar. By the Lord," he added, with energy, "I believe I do worship you."

She laughed, incredulously. "When I am gone," she said, "do you go to a picture gallery and select the best painted picture of a woman and worship that. Ah, a man like you has sources of consolation!"

"Listen," he said. "I know you think that I care for you for your beauty, and I confess it may have been that that first attracted me to you. But I have known you very well indeed since then, my dear. It is just you I love, not your beauty. What do you mean by 'When I am gone'?"

"I am going to leave you," she said, trembling. "Tell me, my friend, do you think you would love me if my beauty were gone instead?"

"I know I would," he said. "Shall I swear it to you?"

"Very well, then, I will tell you to comfort you that I will soon return to you. I am going to Paris, where affairs call me, but you must not come with me. Stay and be patient."

"Take that handkerchief from your face," he said, suddenly and in a peremptory tone.

"You will excuse me—and keep away from me. There will be no farewells. Suddenly she sprang to her feet. "Wait for me there for ten minutes."

It was a long ten minutes to Bravlen, but at last the door that led to the inner room opened and La Marchesa appeared, heavily veiled.

"What is this?" said Bravlen, starting up.

"It is to be a test," she answered, in a strange, faint voice, "Look!"

Bravlen looked and with horror in his eyes staggered back to the ottoman and there he sat, his face hidden in his hands, his brain awl. Minute after minute passed with no sound but the ticking of the little clock on the mantel. Then he felt a soft hand laid caressingly on his head—and he shuddered.

"Farewell!"

It was late in the afternoon of the same day when his man, entering his room, found him pale and disordered staring blankly before him.

"A note for you, sir," Bravlen took the tiny billet from his hand and when the man had left the room, tore it open and read:

"It is farewell, after all. You will never see me again, nor I you. We have been happy together and I might have held you longer, but I showed you the roots of the rose. Oh, but the prize you tempted me with was too great—to be truly loved! Oh, fool! Well, it is past, and forever. I, too, am disillusioned. You saw my face and in that moment I saw your soul!"

BELIEVER IN "BACK TO THE LAND MOVEMENT"

Helen Campbell of New York, who stays a part of her year in Boston and while there affiliates herself with the Bum Row on Boston common, was one of the first women in the United States definitely to act in bettering the conditions of the wage-earning women in the country. She is, at the present time, called the mother of the movement. It was her enthusiasm which helped to awaken people to the fact that their attitude toward the poor should be other than that of mere givers of money or dispensers of food.

It was Whitelaw Reid who, after reading "Mrs. Herndon's Income," by Mrs. Campbell, suggested that she begin investigations of the laboring conditions among poor women and children in New York city. Mrs. Campbell began the investigation, and for a year there appeared each week in the New York Tribune articles by Mrs. Campbell on the woman wage earner's problem.

Not satisfied while studying the conditions among the working women of her own country, Mrs. Campbell went to Paris, where for a year she studied the problems of the wage earning women of that city. Later for three years she covered the conditions in England, Italy and Germany. During her entire period abroad there came from her pen a series of brilliant, comprehensive articles dealing with the industrial place of the woman wage earner. While in New York, when she was carrying on investigations in the business districts, Helen Campbell spent much of her time in Jerry Macaulay's mission.

Helen Campbell is probably best known as an author. She is also known as a former professor of the Kansas Agricultural college, as a special lecturer of the University of Wisconsin and as being connected with Charlotte Perkins Gilman in Chicago settlement work. She is a familiar person on Boston common, where she is called the "mother of the bum row." It is on one of the seats reserved for the occupancy of the "bums" of Boston and other cities that Mrs. Campbell, when the weather permits, reads her morning paper—always with an observant eye to her fellows of the row. When she thinks one of them is genuinely down and out she speaks to him, and the heart of many a poor white-haired woman, whose kindly eyes gave him sympathy and who comprehensively listens to a tale of fortunes lost and ships wrecked.

"My love for the poor and hungry," says Helen Campbell, "began at the age of nine years, when in the cold of a November day in New England a hand of gypsies camped below my grandfather's farm. I met one of the little children wrapped in a tattered red shawl and she told me how hungry she was. She said her band had been ordered out of the town. I ran back to my grandparents and announced my intention of having the gypsies come up to the big house on the hill. My grandparents were aghast at the proposition. Their refusal to entertain the wanderers infuriated me, and I shall never forget the episode nor how, after the storms and tears, a basket of provisions was finally sent down to the gypsies in the hollow. That night the band was hurried out of the town."

Mrs. Campbell is a firm believer in the "back to the land movement." "Through this great country," says Helen Campbell, "I have traveled. In the west I have seen the wheat being garnered; in the south I have seen the cotton fields white, ready for the harvest; in the north I have seen the great timber lands, and in the east broad, fertile acres, and I tell you there is plenty for the masses, plenty for the poor women and their little children, losing childhood in toil. And even while industrial unrest possesses the hearts of the women and children—there is yet a great peace—when out of the turmoil they will come into their own."

"My human creed is to do good and love much. I have tried to live it all my life," says Helen Campbell, mother of the bum row.

SETS PACE FOR DEALING OUT CALLING CARDS

Mrs. Thomas R. Marshall, wife of Vice-President Marshall, has set the pace for dealing out calling cards. She started out in the summer to round up all those who had called upon her, and her card with that of the vice-president now rests on the top layer of 1,600 trays, distributed all the way from the capitol to Alexandria, extending through Maryland to Baltimore and intersecting all fashionable and unfashionable highways in the District of Columbia. The number represents the calls returned and which have been made upon her at the Shoreham hotel since March 4. The record is one never before made by a vice-president's wife, cabinet members' wives or any one else in the official circle except Mrs. Henry Kirk Porter of Pennsylvania, whose husband was in the house from that state a few years ago. Mrs. Marshall can now rest on her laurels. She has closed her visiting list and covered up everything until this winter. The long session of congress made it possible for her to accomplish this. The not too sumptuous machine given to the vice-president for use while he is in office, and accompanied by a chauffeur who knows the city, has been seen in a dozen sections of the town in the same afternoon—first before the door of some high official or a fashionable woman of society, with a caretaker to receive the card, and then before the humble home of a government clerk from Indiana.

QUEEN ENA OF SPAIN IS GROWING OLD RAPIDLY

Queen Ena of Spain, who is only twenty-six, is aging rapidly under the cares of royalty. Her latest photograph shows that she has grown handsomer than ever but looks at least fifteen years older than her actual age.

Not alone has Queen Ena been hurried with grievous family troubles owing to the delicate health of the king and the sad deficiencies of two of her children but she is naturally of an erratic and fretful temperament, like her mother, Princess Henry of Battemberg.

Like Princess Arthur of Connaught, she affords a striking example of the beautifying results of fashionable clothes. Always extremely pretty, with wonderful blond coloring, lovely hair and handsome eyes, Queen Ena's figure had the serious defect of being high-shouldered and short-necked. This appearance has now been got rid of, and the grace and beauty of her neck and shoulders are undeniable.

The prospect of facing a regency in Spain for some years, at any rate while her eldest son is under age, must have a wearing effect on Queen Ena, and especially as it is so freely predicted that she could never sustain the position successfully in the face of the letting loose of not merely Republican but revolutionary forces expected to follow the death of the present king.

However, Queen Ena will not fail for want of brains, for it is said she is well endowed with them, and if she does fail it will be owing to had advisers or her own defective temperament.

VOICE GIVES JOY TO BLIND UNFORTUNATES

Miss Margaret Wilson, daughter of the president, sang to more than fifty blind residents of Washington the other evening at the National library for the blind, and at the end of her recital sent home in the White House car, in which she had come, a number of her auditors who dwell in the remote part of the northeast.

Not by design, but because of tremendous demand for encores, Miss Wilson sang just 13 songs. When she came to give the titles to officials of the library for entry in a permanent record, it was discovered that the total number was the supposedly lucky numeral of her distinguished father.

Besides the distinction imparted to the occasion by the presence of the daughter of the president, Miss Wilson's singing as such pleased the audience. With a wealth of feeling and a well-trained technique, Miss Wilson gave first some Norse, German and French selections, and then some familiar Scotch and Irish ballads.

Among these numbers were three from Grieg, Strauss' "Margen," Schubert's "Ave Maria," Faure's "Des Berceuses" and "Clair de Lune;" "Where the Bee Sucks" and "Lovely Alice," old English songs; "My Laddie, Will Ye Gang to the Highlands," "Loch Lomond," and "The Low-backed Car."

Miss Wilson was accompanied home to the White House by Mrs. William Hitz.

A number of blind persons were taken to and from the concert in the car of Mrs. Emily Berliner. These were residents of the recently opened Aid Association Blind Home.

IMPORTANCE OF SEEDS

No One Subject of Greater Interest to Farmer.

One Reason for General Awakening is That Land Has Increased in Value to Marked Extent—Uniformity of Much Value.

(By A. D. SHAMEL.)

There is no one subject related to farming of greater interest and importance to the farmer than the improvement of his general crops by seed selection and breeding. The study of these plants from the breeding standpoint is not only intensely interesting but it also usually results in awakening a keener interest in all phases of crop production, from the preparation of the soil for the seedbed and the cultivation of the growing plants to the marketing of the products. This subject is of vital importance, commercially, from the fact that it usually costs no more to grow improved varieties of farm crops than unimproved sorts, while the increase

Ten Ears of Corn From the Same Field, Showing Great Variability in Type Resulting From Failure to Select Seed Properly.

in production due to the use of improved seed results in additional profit.

During the past 10 or 15 years there has been a great awakening of interest in the subject of seed selection and breeding as applied to our great general farm crops, especially corn, cotton, tobacco, wheat, oats and other crops of wide distribution and cultivation. One reason for this awakening is that the land on which these crops are grown has increased in value to a very marked extent and it is necessary to increase the production per acre and improve the quality of the crops in order to make farming profitable. In high priced land it is necessary to grow more productive crops than formerly if one is to make a reasonable profit on the present investment.

Another reason for the awakened interest in seed selection and breeding lies in the fact that in the sections where crops have been grown for a considerable time the varieties produced on these lands year after year, where no seed selection or breeding has been practiced, have tended to run out and become unprofitable. In addition to the running out of varieties under conditions of continuous propagation without breeding, fungous diseases and insect enemies, frequently develop to such an extent that, unless resistant or immune varieties are secured by seed selection and breeding, the growing of these crops is either carried on with small return to the growers or has to be abandoned.

The most important field for the breeder's work is in the improvement of the established varieties of crops
by the production of strains approximating more uniformity to the best types of these varieties. This lack of uniformity in high productive capacity is responsible in great measure for the present low average yield of most of our crops.

In the case of corn, this variability of plants is particularly striking. A large majority of the plants produce ears of small size, irregular in shape, and light weight, which are undesirable. Many of the stalks are barren.
Only a small proportion of the plants produce the maximum size and weight of ear. If every kernel produced a uniform plant and the plants bore uniform ears weighing one pound each,
the average yield per acre would be about 10,668 pounds, or about 155 bushels of shelled corn per acre. The fact that the average yield throughout the corn belt is less than 40 bushels per acre is striking evidence that only a small proportion of the plants bear ears of the maximum weight.

Overhead Irrigation.

Of 164 users of overhead irrigation in New York state, 67 are located on Long Island, according to H. H. Fullerton, in the Long Island Agronomist.
He adds: "The majority of them are what careless folks call foreigners, which boiled down means that these folks have only lived in the United States part of one generation, instead of two or three."

About 20 nice building lots, located in different parts of the city, at very low prices consistent with location and size of lot. That 1914 is destined to be one of the greatest building eras in the history of Hopkinsville goes without saying. The demand for houses was never so great as it is at present, and this means that at least 250 new homes must be built this year to supply the great increasing demand. This is the best evidence of Hopkinsville's future prosperity, and it certainly means much higher prices for desirable lots. Also we have some very desirable improved property for white and colored people in all parts of the city.

TREE SPRAYING

Simpson County Fruit Growers Striving to Save Their Trees By Pruning and Spraying

At the late Simpson County Farmers' Institute Mr. L. Clayton, of Louisville, spent more than an hour each day demonstrating how to prune trees, how to spray and when to spray for the different insect pests that the fruit growers of our county have to contend with in order to secure a good crop of fruit. He exhibited twigs cut from trees in and around Frankfort, showing the existence of San Jose scale. He showed one twig cut from a tree that was badly infested with the scale.

This scale, he declared, is all over the country, and it is not checked the time will soon come when not an orchard will have in it a bearing tree. Then too, the fight must be made uniform. It is useless for one farmer to spray his trees and kill the pest when his nearby neighbor refuses to spray. All must work together, and if they do so only a few years are necessary to have all the pests subdued, if not entirely eradicated. The time has now come for pruning and for doing the first spraying.

Pruning can be done in a scientific way, so as not to injure the tree by badly wounding it, and at the same time shape its top so as to prevent sun blister and increase each tree's bearing capacity. When a limb is cut from the main trunk of the tree or from a larger limb, the cut should be made smooth and close. It can hardly be cut too close, when it is easy to leave a knot jutting out that will never heal over. The old idea of trimming off the lower limbs so that a horse can pull a plow under them up close to the tree has proven to be very detrimental to an orchard. Prune the trees when first planted. Cut the trunk back, but never give it a square cut. Such a cut is hard to heal over. Let the cut slope upward and if cut smooth on a small tree it will heal over the first year. When cut back properly the limbs will start out a few feet from the ground. Select three or four of the best limbs that start out. Keep all the rest pruned off each year and never let a central trunk grow up high. If one should start up cut it back so as to give the top of the tree a round oval shape. Young trees should be cultivated. Older trees may be, but the older trees do not need to be cultivated under the limbs where the pruning has been properly done. Such cultivation should be done between the rows as near as possible to the drooping limbs of the trees.

The spraying that should be done now is for San Jose scale. The eggs are sticking on the bark of the small limbs and twigs. These eggs are so small that it requires the aid of a magnifying glass to see them. The nozzle of the sprayer should be held close to the limbs, so as to get them thoroughly wet. For some trees the nozzle should be from six to eight feet long.

There are many preparations made for spraying. Bordeaux mixture is one of the best for San Jose scale. Sulphuric acid and many other preparations are also good. The most important part is to get the spraying well done at the proper time. It is folly to spray with any strong insect killing solution after the tree has begun to put out its foliage. Such solutions will kill the foliage as quickly as it will the insects. Spraying should be begun now and continued every ten or fifteen days until the buds begin to open and put out their bloom or leaf. The report comes from Warren county that many fruit growers there have been spraying for several years past. They have demonstrated the

FIFTY YEARS

Of Pythianism to Be Appropriately Observed Feb. 19.

The semi-centennial anniversary of the order of Knights of Pythias will be observed by all lodges on Feb. 19th. A committee for Evergreen Lodge No. 38 has been named to make necessary preparations. It consists of Newton Roper, Frank Toman and A. M. Coleman. The order was instituted by Justus M. Rathbone, in Washington, D. C., Feb. 19, 1864, with friendship, charity and benevolence as its cardinal principles. There now more than 750,000 members. The local observance will consist of a program of music and speech making.

Work on the five new cottages on West Thirteenth has been pushed and all of them will be completed in about two months, if the weather should be favorable.

LOWERS BLACK FLAG.

Rebel Leader Will Stop Assassinating Prisoners.

Juarez, Mex., Feb. 1.—Gen. Francisco Villa announced today that civilized warfare, particularly with reference to the treatment of prisoners, would hereafter be adopted by the rebels. He procured a little book from United States army officials dealing with "The Ethics of International Warfare," which he said would be put in practice in the rebel army, and he added that henceforth no Federal officers would be executed, unless they previously had been captured and on being released had broken their word not to fight again.

"The Prince of Tonight."

"The Prince of Tonight" in which Tom Arnold, supported by a large cast of principals and a big beauty chorus, will be seen at Holland's Opera House soon, may be described as foam, frivol and fantasy. Adams, Hough and Howard are the celebrated trio who are responsible for this most popular performance of LeComte & Flesher's offering, which has a count of two hundred and sixty times in Chicago, and shattered box office records in all the cities. The fascinating story of "The Prince of Tonight," combines modern characters and places with fantastic incidents and situations, making the whole the most original musical comedy in years.—Advertisement.

Beats the Original.

A model of the Panama canal which probably will be more than 500 feet long will be the Government's largest and most elaborate individual exhibit at the Panama-Pacific Exposition at San Francisco in 1915. From this model, it is said, the visitor will be able to get a clearer and more comprehensive idea of the canal and of its workings than by an actual visit to the canal itself. Almost at a glance one will get from the huge model a bird's-eye view of the canal in all its details from end to end.

GAME EXPERTS

To Address a Meeting at Frankfort Tomorrow.

There will be a joint meeting of the House and Senate Committees of Game and Fish in the dining room of Capital Hotel at Frankfort, Kentucky, Wednesday, February 4th, at 8:30 p. m. This meeting will be addressed by E. Lester Jones, Deputy Commissioner of U. S. Fisheries and Chas. E. Brewster, Game Law Expert, U. S. Government.

This meeting is open to the members of the House and Senate and citizens of Kentucky. Messrs. Jones and Brewster, who address the Committee, will tell of the work that has been accomplished by the Government and it will be both interesting and instructive.

AMUSEMENTS.

The Billy Bryant Stock Company opened a week's engagement at Holland's Opera House last night, playing to a full house. This company comes here recommended as one of the best on the road, both in plays presented and specialty acts, and they should be greeted by good audiences throughout the week. Popular prices, 10c, 20c and 30c, will prevail and a first class show at such prices always proves a drawing card. The bill for tonight will be "A Receipt in Full." Look for another crowded house tonight.—Advertisement.

CONSCIENCE MONEY

For Heirs of Union County Man Who Committed Suicide.

Morganfield, Ky.—Former Congressman H. D. His act was caused by ill health, he believing himself financially embarrassed. The money Mr. Allen received was called "conscience money," so no attempt is being made to discover the sender's identity.

ALL RECORDS

Broken On Lexington Tobacco Market Friday.

Lexington, Ky., Jan 31—Three records were broken Friday on the Lexington tobacco market when a basket brought $43 the hundred, when 1,150,000 pounds were sold in one day, and the entire crop of Horace Davis and M. Waite, comprising 3,295 pounds, and from which the high-priced basket was taken, averaged $23.30 the hundred, the highest price obtained for an entire crop this season. To-day's sales of 1,150,000 pounds, were the highest ever made in one day on any loose-leaf tobacco market in the world. The Davis & Waite crop was an exceptionally fine lot of very color tobacco and several baskets of it sold at more than $40 a hundred.
